MEET THE GROWERS

Triple M Farms

The owners, James Meeks and Wendell Moffatt, third and fourth generation tomato growers, have been lifelong friends growing up in the small community of Old Milo, Arkansas. Presently, three generations of family members manage the day to day farming and packing operations. Farming is a risky and challenging occupation.

Succeeding in this industry requires a level of commitment that consumers outside of the farming community may not recognize. We have always been committed to Quality, Food Safety, Labor Relations, and Environmental Responsibility and we believe that these are the key principals that have allowed us to succeed.
